Action Information
Description: D'Onofrio contacted the Con Ed Environmental Desk for situation update. Mr. Jordanhaul stated that workers were cleaning out a manhole utilizing a vacuum truck when one of the workers/operators accidentally opened a hatch on the truck, allowing approximately 45 gallons to spill to the ground. The crew immediately took measures to control the spill and cleanup is on-going. Con Ed reported the material as hazardous for lead content as a precaution to ensure compliance with the reporting requirements. The material has not yet been tested for RCRA characteristics/ep toxicity; it's actual status as a hazardous waste is not yet known. The crew is currently investigating sewers to confirm suspected absence of impact. If local sewers have been impacted, Con Ed is prepared to clean as needed.
